Our dispatches yesterday afternoon brought us the startling intelligence that Gov. Magoffin had vetoed the resolutions introduced by Mr. Harney, from Jefferson county, and that, as a necessary consequence, the two houses were compelled to pass it over his head. The contrast between the loyalty of the members of the Legislature, freshly elected from the people, and the base treason of the Governor, who was elected three years ago, will be the first impression made upon every mind.

This disagreement between the Governor and the people might be expected in ordi nary times; but a Governor who suffers himself to be made the tool, to be moulded and formed into any shape the traitors around him may desire, is worse than wicked-he is weak. Mr. Magoffin must and ought to have known the consequence of the alarming step he has taken; he must have understood, as every one else does, that it is a quasi justification of treason and rebellion. It may be that lying on soft couches, and sipping the red wine of Bourbon, and tasting the blood of the grape, he did not know that he was trying to pour out the blocd of the citizens; but if there the true meaning and intent of it, we do not

Our Legislature has been censured, and very severely censured, for not acting speedily. Its action has been declared dilatory and injurious; its terms not posi tive, because there was a disposition to unite in one grand column the whole State of Kentucky. At such a time a resolution defending the honor of the State is intro duced, and the Governor vetoes it.

We know his excuse before we receive it. We know he will make a treasonable interpretation of neutrality. We know he will say that the Confederate States and the United States are equal powers. He will give us to understand that Kentucky is an and paid by Tennessee, will lead to civil both powers from the State. He will ask us with Tennesece? If a loyal regard to State rights determines the position of the State by the will of the majority, what right has any member of the Legislature to presume that any citizen of Kentucky will disobey the expressed will of the people? Have we any right to call any of our citizens traitors, and believe that they will rise in sufficient numbers to create oivil war? Has that member any evidence to prove that they will risc, and who they are? If he has, is it not bis duty, as a sworn officer of the State, to whom the high and responsible trust of the safety and welfare of all is intrusted, to take immediate and active steps to arrest and punish such men? In the whole scope of his duty is there one more sacred than this? This member is elected, takes an oath to support the United States Government. Our State is attacked, wan toply, treacherously, and insultingly at tacked. We have but one means of defense. It is the duty of the Federal Government, under the great Constitution, to protect us, a sacred and unavoidable duty; and yet this distinguished member tells us that the introduction of that army will is one man in Kentucky that hesitates as to produce civil war. He would have us murdered defenselessly in our beds by Tennes secans, for fear we might be murdered by some fellow-citizens. If he knows of any man, or any band of men, whose intention it is to create civil war because we are defended by our own army, how can he avoid the inevitable, eacred and sworn duty of pointing them out, and from his place in the House denounce them? With this grave and important knowledge, how can he arise in the councils of the State without pointing out who it is that has marked us for slaughter? If he has no such information, what

> The Courier is eloquent upon the murdering and kidnapping of unoffending women and children in Baltimore and St. Louis! It cannot find any sympathy for the murdered citizens of Kentucky by Tennessee. It does not hear of the gross and dastardly assassination of men in Kenton county, and the flight of their murderers to to the company should be collected and sold the camp of secession. It has not one word of censure for the deliberate, wicked, cowardly, midnight assassination of the guard of the railroad bridge on the Covington road. It has no eloquence, no bitterness, no denunciation out of its whole catalogue of curses, to pour out upon those who, by secret assassination, take the life of Kentuckians, but is wild with fury, if a rebellious sceundrel is cast into jail in Baltimore. Look over the Courier from end to end, and of the whole black, damning list of outrages committed against Kentucky, there is not one recorded. The State in which the editor makes his bread may be insulted, and he gives his hand to the insulter, and sits cheek by jowl with him, in council. It aids and abets treason to the Government, and not satisfied with that, and arguments for State Rights, and men who are in arms against the Governminority. The Frankfort Yeoman asks, "Is Kentucky corrupted?" We read the paper honor as a high-minded, conscientious gen- editor entitles him to suspect it is.

In our yestorday morning's paper we noticed that six guns were taken from the store of Donally & Strader. The circumstances in relation to this are these: The guns belonged to Company I, Independent Grays, and were not the property of the State, but had been purchased by the com pany. When it was disbanded there were some debts still unpaid. Captain Donally recommended that the property belonging for the benefit of creditors. These guns were stored with Captain Donally. One of the creditors, a Main street merchant, offered to take six guns for his debt, and the Captain being responsible to some extent for the liabilities of the company, at once prepared to take them to him.

He says he had no intention of shipping or selling, but only wished to relieve the company of a debt; that he has never shipped contraband, but that on one occasion having learned that an article he contracted to sell was intended to be smuggled, herefused to allow it to leave his house. He is a "Southern Rights" man, but believes that the laws must be obeyed.

SEIZURE OF THE JOHN GAULT.-We have already mentioned the seizure of the steamer John Gault, Capt. Joe. Bunce, on Sunday the underlings of a petty agent of the near Paducah. The Evans ville Journal says the Gault has been doing quite a nice little business in the centraband line, slipping up the Tennessee and Cumberland rivers, discharging freight and slipping back into the Ohio, looking as innocent as any Aminidab Sleek. Suspicion becoming aroused, one of the gun boats was sent to watch the Gault, and sure enough, the lat ter steamer was caught in the very act, and seized accordingly. Capt. Bunce made himself particularly conspicuous by his advocacy of secession dootrines when our troubles first commenced, and he assisted and the world were anxiously looking for an we doubt not, it considered a remarkably squad, which then had charge of the block-

As I came through Louisville I met with a distinguished citizen of Tennessee who pledged me his honor that for no purpose hostile to Kentucky, but to resist, at the best points in Tennessee, an invasion of that State through Kentucky by United States forces. The same gentleman was in Frankfort with three others. accredited as Peace Commissioners from Tennessee to Kentucky, avowing the same pacific intentions, when the news was received that they had invaded us. The Commissioners assert themselves astounded and mortified by the event.

The House organized on Monday; nothing conlibe done until the Senate organized On Tuesday after my arrival here, a distin gnished member of the Honse, in a speech at a peace barbecue near Frankfort, said that "we (meaning his party) have ten thousand good and true Kentuckiana, backed by forty thousand Tennesseeans, just over the line, who, at one long, loud blast from the bugle, will come to our rescue." Then at that time there were more men under arm: against the Government of the United States. pho were recruited in Kentucky, than were in Camps Robinson and Holt combined.

> The first business on Thursday, after completing the organization of the two houses, was to receive the Governor's message, in which he promised to co-operate with the Legislature in any attempt to preserve the peace. Mark the language, and further communicate the very definite information that "the messenger" had heard in Nashville" that purchased, at the cost of £80,000, Secretary Walker had given Gen. Polk a liscretion to stay or withdraw.

On the 9th Gen. Polk tel-graphed Gov. Magoffin that "a military necessity having required him to occupy Columbus," he had done so with the forces under his command, and he had taken the town on says he promptly advised Mr. Davis of the act, who replied that "the necessity justi-He says he took the town because the Federals had planted a battery opposite, with the "evident intention" covering the landing of troops. convenient to his purposes to divine the evident intentions of other people. The Federals could have built a battery at Co umbus as well as over the river, and the fact that they put it on the other side might him to respond by at least showing have suggested to Gen. Polk, if he had been at the window. He replied, "I have as anxious to observe our neutrality as he was duty to do, and cannot lose the time to involve us in war, that it was done to acknowledge this compliment, if all keep him out and protect Kentucky from bands in Washington are in the sures invasion. The Reverend General thinks the Washington Star.

Government disregarded Kentneky neutrality by planting a battery on the shore opposite imbus, with the Mississippi river between them, but of course he would think that Tennessee had protected our neutrality by keeping 30,000 or 40,000 men in a stone's throw of our line for months before. The only difference between him and Kentucky is that she would prefer to judge her own honor and interests, and will call on him for protection when she wants it at his

It is difficult to say which excels, the insolence of the white-gowned commander or the transparency of his diplomacy. Having assumed to judge that our neutrality was violated, and to invade us for our protection, he very gracionaly and coolly offers to con descend to withdraw on condition that Kentucky will guarantee the withdrawal of the Federals, and that they "shall not be allowed to enter or occupy any point of Kentucky in the future" "Any point," not even customhouses or barraoks in their possession at the commencement of the war! "In the future," that is for all time to come! In other words, if we will secede or declare our independence, or go to war with the General Government, he will withdraw his armies from our territory. course, Gen. Polk, being a minister of the gospel of the "Prince of Peace," is opposed o coercion. He deserves to be made an honorary member of the peace party. If Kentuckians will now announce to the world that they may be invaded, and then have terms prescribed to them by the invader, they had as well sell out to the best bidder, and go into permanent slavery under some good master who will give his parole of honor to treat them well.

It will be seen that before the Legislature could do anything, aye, before they were organized, we were invaded by our "Southern sister," Tennessee, who had solemnly protested that her immense armies were only to defend herself against attack, against attack in a quarter where there was no danger of attack. Was the "one long, lond blast of the bugle" sounded from Southern Kentucky, or was it at the discretion of the newly made judge of 'military necessity' and the law of neutrality? In either case it was equally wicked. In either event the question of peace or war was taken from our control and decided by others. In this connection I will add that I have just returned (as a spectator) from the "Peace Convention" held to day in this city. There I heard the most prominent and dis-tinguished speaker of the day, after deciding what was the duty of the State and of the present Legislature, assert with all the energy and emphasis he could throw into the sentence, "And I will wage eternal war against those members of this Legislature who prove recreant to the trust confided in Comment is unnecessary.

I want no war. I and my constituents have nothing to gain and everything to lose have hoped and prayed for peace; that this storm might not pass over Kentucky's fair fields: or, if it must, that it should stoop no lower than the mountain ops. But if Mr. Jefferson Davis and the Rev. Leonidas Polk force upon Kentucky the question of conquering or being conquered, then I am for conquering. These facts and hasty reflections are sub-

Dr. Roback's Stomach Bitters A new find designtful Stemachic and Cordial, for giving sone to the stomach and for the prevention of bitons compilants incident to the Western country. Try it.

As a morning drink, to assist digestion and relieve drsueper, it has no equal. Try it.

In flavor it is superior to all other Bitters. Try it.

The formula of these Bitters, now (1651) the sole property of Dr. Roback, originated with one of the oblight and most emitters. Medical Practitiohers of the Wost, and it is directly predicated upon the wants of Western people.

and it is directly predicated upon the walls of western people.

These Biters derive their stimulus from the powerful tonic nature of the loots and herbs of which they are composed; and as they are, by allaving unnatural cravings of the stomach, directly promotive of TEMPSE ANCE, the present proprietor believes that, in making them widdly known, the public welfare is enberved. It will soon be for sale by all of Dr. Roback's numerous arents, and at hotels, a.c., the country over. In the meatatine, orders will be filled direct from Cincinnati in any quantity, and at the lowest rates. It is put up in quari bottles, and seemely packed in one-dozen cases; half-dozen sample cases will, however, be packed and seen to any address, if desired.

We found him occupying a strong entrenched position. covered by a forest too dense to admit of its bring seen at a distance of 300 yards. His force was seven regiments, besides the one driven in.

At 3 o'clock we began a strong reconnoiswe were about to assault the position on the flank and front, when night coming on, our troops being completely exhaus ted, I drew them out of the woods posted them in order of battle, behind ridges immediately in front of the enemy's position, where they rested on their arms till morning. Shortly afterwards a runaway "contraband" came in and reported that the enemy had crossed the Gauley during the night by means of the ferry and a bridge which they had completed.

Colonel Ewing was ordered to take possession of the camp, which he did at about seven o'clock, capturing a few prisoners, two stand of colors, a considerable quantity of arms, with quartermaster's stores, messing and camp equipage.

The enemy have destroyed the bridge across the Gauloy, which here goes through a deep gorge, and our troops being still much fatigued, and having no material for immediately replacing the bridge, it was thought prudent to encamp the troops and occupy the ferry and cap ured camp, sending a few rifled cannon shots after the encto produce a moral effect. [Correspondence of the St. Louis Republican] CAIRO, Sept. 11 .- The gunboats Conestoga and Lexington were below here all day yesterday, and had a considerable engagement, lasting nearly six hours, with the rebel gunboat Yankee and several batteries a short distance above Columbus. The Conestogs first discovered the Yarkee, and opened fire on her, which the latter returned, and was assisted by a smaller boat and the batteries on shore. The officers of the Conestoga report that the Yankee was driven back, with one of her wheels disabled, and that four batteries of four guns each were driven back into Columbus. Strange to say, only one man was hurt on our side, a man named Castle, from Mt Vernon, Indiana. A shell passed between the chimneys of the Conestoga. Castle was struck by a rifle ball from the shore, and probably cannot recover.

The gunboats threw shell into the woods and other places where it was supposed that the enemy might be concealed, but it is not known with what effect. The Conestoga and Lexington returned last evening. Southern Missouri is again attracting attention. Three regiments from Bird's Point were under marcing orders last night, probably destined for Sikestown. It is

They are now in Camp Murphy, and accounterments. The party traveled by night, sometimes on foot, and at other times in wagons furnished them by the Union

In daylight they would keep concealed, so as to avoid observation. Captain Reinhardt leaves 2 wife and four children in Murfreesboro', and all his property, which, he says, is considerable. He represents the Union feeling in Tennessee as very strong, and thousands anxiously waiting the advent of the Union army from the North. The Germans impressed into the Confederate service, he says, will desert on the first opportunity. He represents the sentiment of the masses as for the Union unconditionally, and that nearly all are tired, sick and disgusted with the rule of Jeff. Davis and his fellow-traitors. Let deliverance be given Tennessee as speedily as possible.—Ind.
